Re Item V.

- 1 The following documents are referred to in this communication:
D1 : US 5 663 051 A (VLASSELAER PETER VAN) 2 September 1997 (1997-09-02)
D2 : US 6 197 579 B1 (HASAN SHIRIN W ET AL) 6 March 2001 (2001-03-06)
D3: WO 02/089725 A (NEXELL THERAPEUTICS INC ;JULIAR RENA (US); ETTEFAGH GUILTY (US)) 14 November 2002 (2002-11-14)
D4: US 2002/185457 A1 (SMITH EMERY ET AL) 12 December 2002 (2002-12-12)
- 2 INDEPENDENT CLAIM 1
  - 2.1 The present application does not meet the criteria of Article 33(1) PCT, because the subject-matter of claim 1 is not new in the sense of Article 33(2) PCT.
Document D2 discloses (the references in parentheses applying to this document):
A disposable container for centrifugation comprising a container with a removable lid (figure 1; columns 5 and 6 and fig. 4 and 6a), said lid comprising three opening with canulas entry ports (72, 76, 77) and a removable stopper (col. 6, line 13; col. 9, line 66) for a vent channel suitable to control venting. Furthermore it discloses that said length of one of said canulas can be varied in length (col. 6, line 33) and in particular it has a length equal in height of the container (fig. 6c and col. 10, lines 1-9).
  - 2.2 The present application does not meet the criteria of Article 33(1) PCT, because the subject-matter of claim 1 is not inventive in the sense of Article 33(2) PCT.
Document D1 discloses (the references in parentheses applying to this document):
A disposable container for centrifugation comprising a container with a lid (figure 6; column 11), said lid comprising three opening with canulas (92, 78, 82, "luer ports") and a removable stopper (86) for a vent channel, said cap is suitable to control the entry and exit of air. Furthermore, one of said canulas has a length at least equal to that of the height of said container. The device is suitable for control of entry and exit of air and the sterile handling of samples without sterile hoods.
  - 2.3 D1 differs from claim 1 in that it does not disclose a removable lid in combination with the embodiment of fig. 6. However, removable lids are a well known and a common feature of container for centrifugation (see for example in D1 with respect to embodiments relating to fig. 1-5 and 8), in fact it must be regarded as a commonly known design feature/possibility of such containers. Such a feature can only be regarded as inventive, if the removability of said lid presents unexpected effects or properties. However, no such effects or properties are indicated in the application. Hence, no inventive step is present in the subject-matter of claim 1.

3 DEPENDENT CLAIMS 2, 4, 5-19

Dependent claims 2, 4, 5-19 do not contain any features which, in combination with the features of any claim to which they refer, meet the requirements of the PCT in respect of novelty and/or inventive step (Article 33(2) and (3) PCT), see citations as given in the International Search Report).

4 DEPENDENT CLAIM 3

The combination of the features of dependent claim 3 are neither known from, nor rendered obvious by, the available prior art. The reasons are as follows:
Subject-matter of claim 3 differs from D1 in that a tap is foreseen at the vent port.

Said vent port solves the problem to simplify operation under sterile conditions (page 2).

Although the problem is well known, D1 does not suggest or imply taps at the vent port in order to regulate ventilation of said container.

Subject-matter of claim 3 is therefore new and inventive (Article 33 PCT).

Re Item VIII.

- 5 Claims 5-7, 9 relate to features of a needle and a syringe to be used with a container of claim 1. However, according to the wording of claim 1 neither said needle nor said syringe are part of the claimed container - the container is simply suitable to be used with a needle/syringe. This leaves the reader in doubt as to the meaning and scope of claims 5-7 and eventually also claim 1. Claims 1, 5-7 are therefore not clear (Article 6 PCT).

- 6 Contrary to the requirements of Rule 5.1(a)(ii) PCT, the relevant background art disclosed in the documents D1-D4 is not mentioned in the description, nor are these documents identified therein.
